Western Heights High School

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
1965-1966

Looking over our shoulders, we can recall memories of the past school year. As seniors look back, they will be closing their high school days. Their thoughts will be toward the future, the future that depends upon many more like them.

The graduating class of 1966 hopes that as you leaf through the following pages you will share with us "fond memories that bring the light of other days around us."

As Western Heights grows, we can gradually see its shape taking form.

Western Heights High School continues to meet the needs of an ever-expanding population. Since the first graduating class of '62 left its portals, new additions in both the curriculum and building have been made.

Students are now working and playing in our new gym which also includes eight classrooms.

Students at Work and Play

I believe in keeping my school's traditions as they are made, with high ideals and an open mind.

I believe in the heritage of freedom in school government, in human equality and the principles of self-respect. I believe in always putting God and my faith above all else.

I respect the authority of my superiors and with pride attempt to better myself with justice, honesty, and integrity.

I believe in humble acceptance of victory and an unconquerable spirit in defeat.

I will always conduct myself in a manner that will reflect merit, honor, and excellence upon Western Heights High School, the school in which I believe.

Typing I students begin Lesson I.

"Come on, Mike, it's time to dance."

Where have the girls gone?

Dedication

Because of his warm devotion and loyal understanding . . .

Because this devotion and understanding has won respect in the hearts of so many students . . .

And because he has lighted the lamp for learning in the most delightful and inspiring way,

We dedicate our annual, Flight V, of 1966 to Mr. Thomas Hodges.

ADMINISTRATION

Administration Serves Faithfully

Members of the administrative staff work full time to maintain the smooth functioning of the school system. Because of their faithful service and understanding of today's demands, progress has continually been made in construction and curriculum.

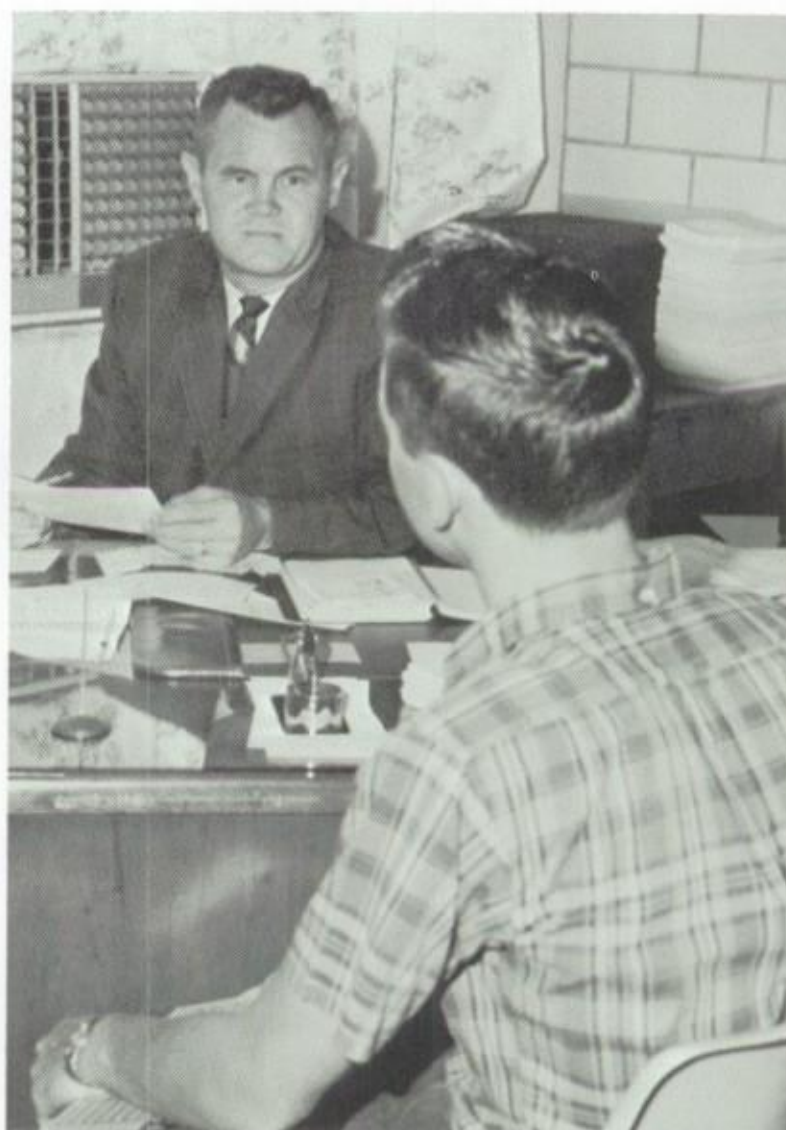

Despite its brief history, Western Heights has grown rapidly. At the age of one year, the high school became accredited, and in 1962-63, the junior high received accreditation. Breaking all state records, Western Heights became accredited by North Central during the 1963-64 year, thus attaining a goal that many schools work towards for years.

Superintendent Devert Rymer can often be found burning the midnight oil. Since coming to Western Heights in 1961, he has guided the progressive policies of the school. Being classroom teacher and superintendent have given him a rare understanding of people.

"Team effort" is a must in school administration. Principal Carl Hildebrand supervises student activities and helps his teachers and students with individual problems. Mr. Hildebrand has been principal, classroom teacher, and superintendent.

Some people are "jacks of all trades." Principal Thomas Hodges has been in the field of education for 17 years. During this time he has been basketball coach, bus driver, custodian, principal, superintendent and teacher of science, history, and English. This may help explain the knowledge and understanding he has for the students of Western Heights.

Ex-superintendent, principal, and teacher, Mr. Leonard Troutman is the man to fill the supervisory position of coordinator. He is Mr. Rymer's right-arm for purchasing and budgeting the needs of the schools in Western Heights District.

Demands of modern life and the country's need for better educated citizens have added importance to the role of counselor. James White communicates with the students on the role they play in school and in society. Graduating from Oklahoma University with an M. Ed., Mr. White strives to meet student needs with standardized tests, college and career planning and advice for personal problems.

Mrs. Dorothy Cavaness, Board of Education secretary, is kept busy with financial reports and business contracts.

Making change, selling needed supplies, and keeping finances in order summarizes the day for Mrs. Katherine Deatherage.

Mrs. Avis Young helps keep our office organized by answering the phone and helping students.

Mr. Jim James, graduate of Southwestern with a B. S. degree, reviews the fundamentals of a good driver.

As our library increases, the books must be carefully fitted. Mrs. Helen Hill, graduate from Central State with M. Ed., helps in obtaining the books for student needs.

Miss Carol Smith, a graduate of Central State, and Mrs. Kittye Neil, a M. Ed. graduate of Oklahoma University, prepare students to meet the demands of the business world.

Social Studies include the required geography, American and Oklahoma history, plus world history, problems in democracy, and sociology. These are designed to fulfill graduate requirements and to teach our students the importance of American citizenship.

Teaching these courses are Jerry Orr, graduate of Southwestern, Larry Bernstorff, graduate of Bethany, Jim James, Southwestern graduate, and Kenneth Stone, department head, graduate of O.U.

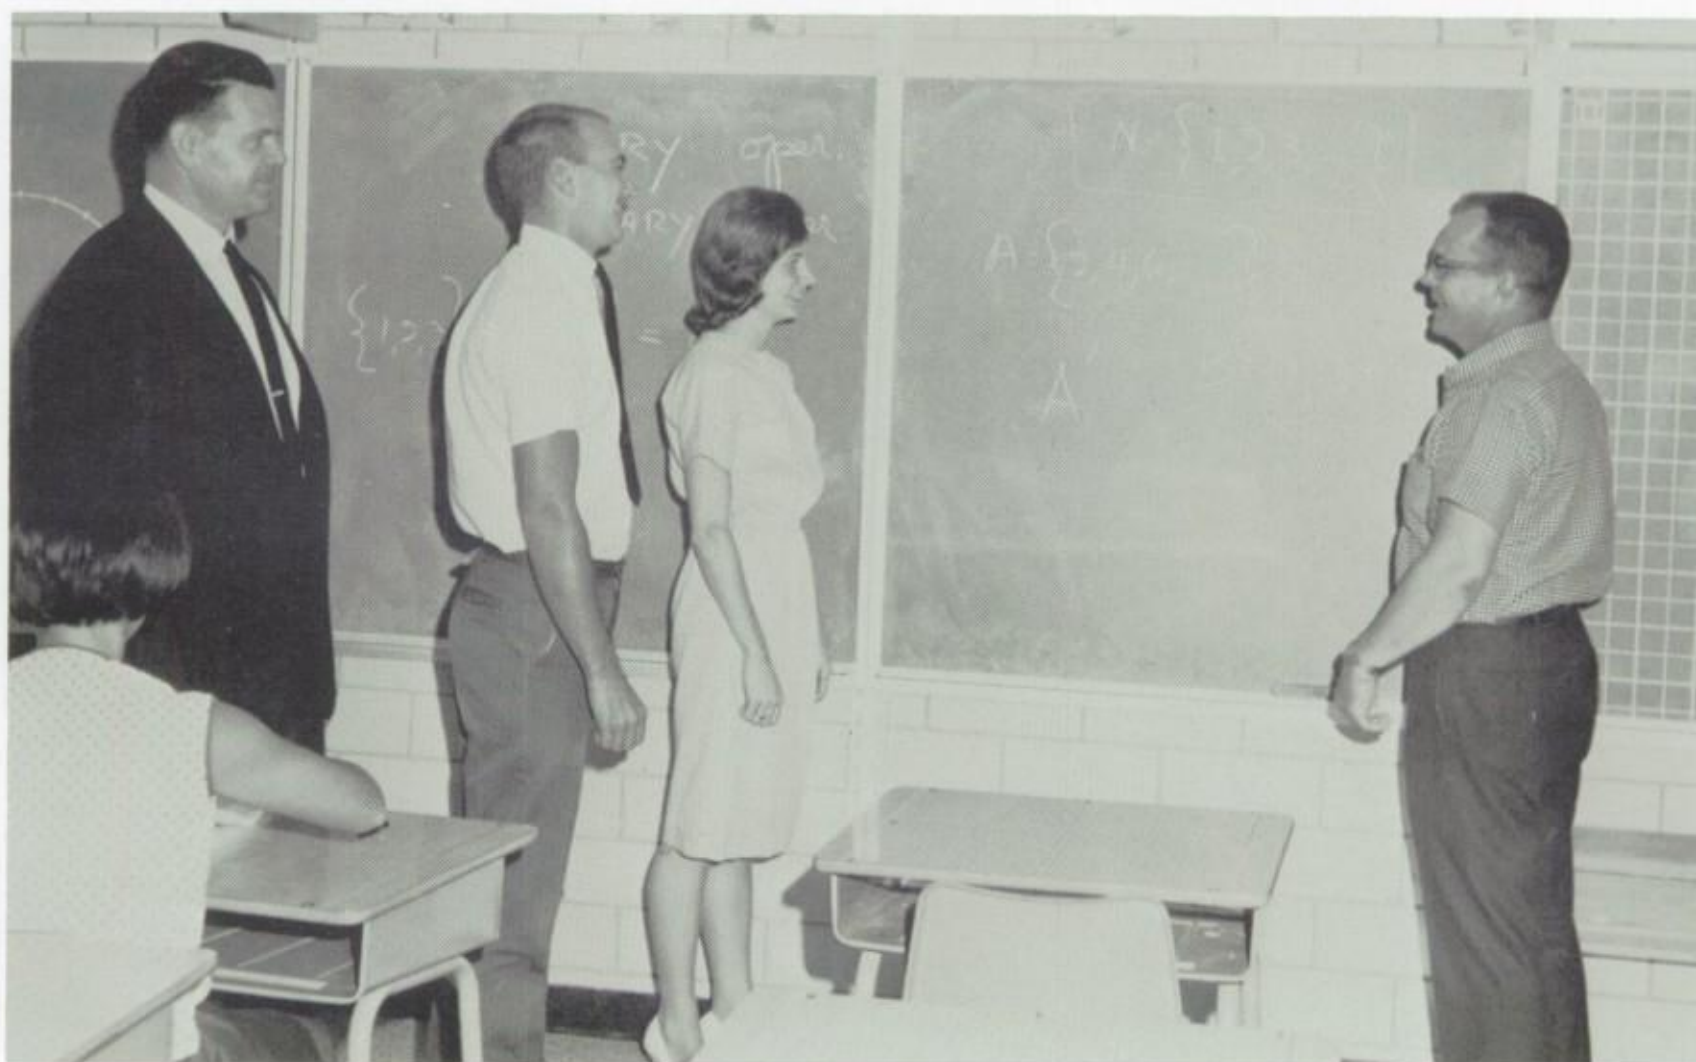

In today's space age much emphasis has been placed on the sciences and math. Western Heights offers Algebra I, and II, advanced math, geometry, solid geometry, trigonometry, and physics.

Our science department has increased in space and new equipment has been bought. This year BSCS biology, biology, physiology, chemistry and physical science were offered to the students.

Wayne Morgan, M.Ed. graduate of Oklahoma University, and Ken Prather, a graduate of Southwestern, are proud of the newly purchased microscopes.

Demonstrating one of his simple problems to his department members is Bob Graham, M.T. graduate of Southwestern. George Young, graduate of Oklahoma City University, Jim Shipman from East Central State, and Delas Beck, graduate of Bethany Nazarene College, look on.

Essential to any curriculum is the command of our own language. Teachers seek new methods and techniques to improve the communicative skills.

Linda Gerbrandt, Spanish and German teacher, demonstrates the music method to Elizabeth Bandy, head of English; Ruth Campbell, English; Marilyn Brower, speech and English; Barbara Hildebrand, reading; Flora Roberts, English; and Martha Stephenson, journalism and English.

Jim Baker, graduate of Oklahoma University, and Mary Smith, Oklahoma City University, compare students' notes.

Talent in our students varies. Music and art are not neglected fields. In addition to boosting spirit at ball games, the band participates in contests and local concerts. The vocal music department likewise goes to contests and presents song fests. You may hear this musical talent as you walk down the halls.

Sculpturing, design, and silk screening are only a few areas in art where students may exhibit their creative ability.

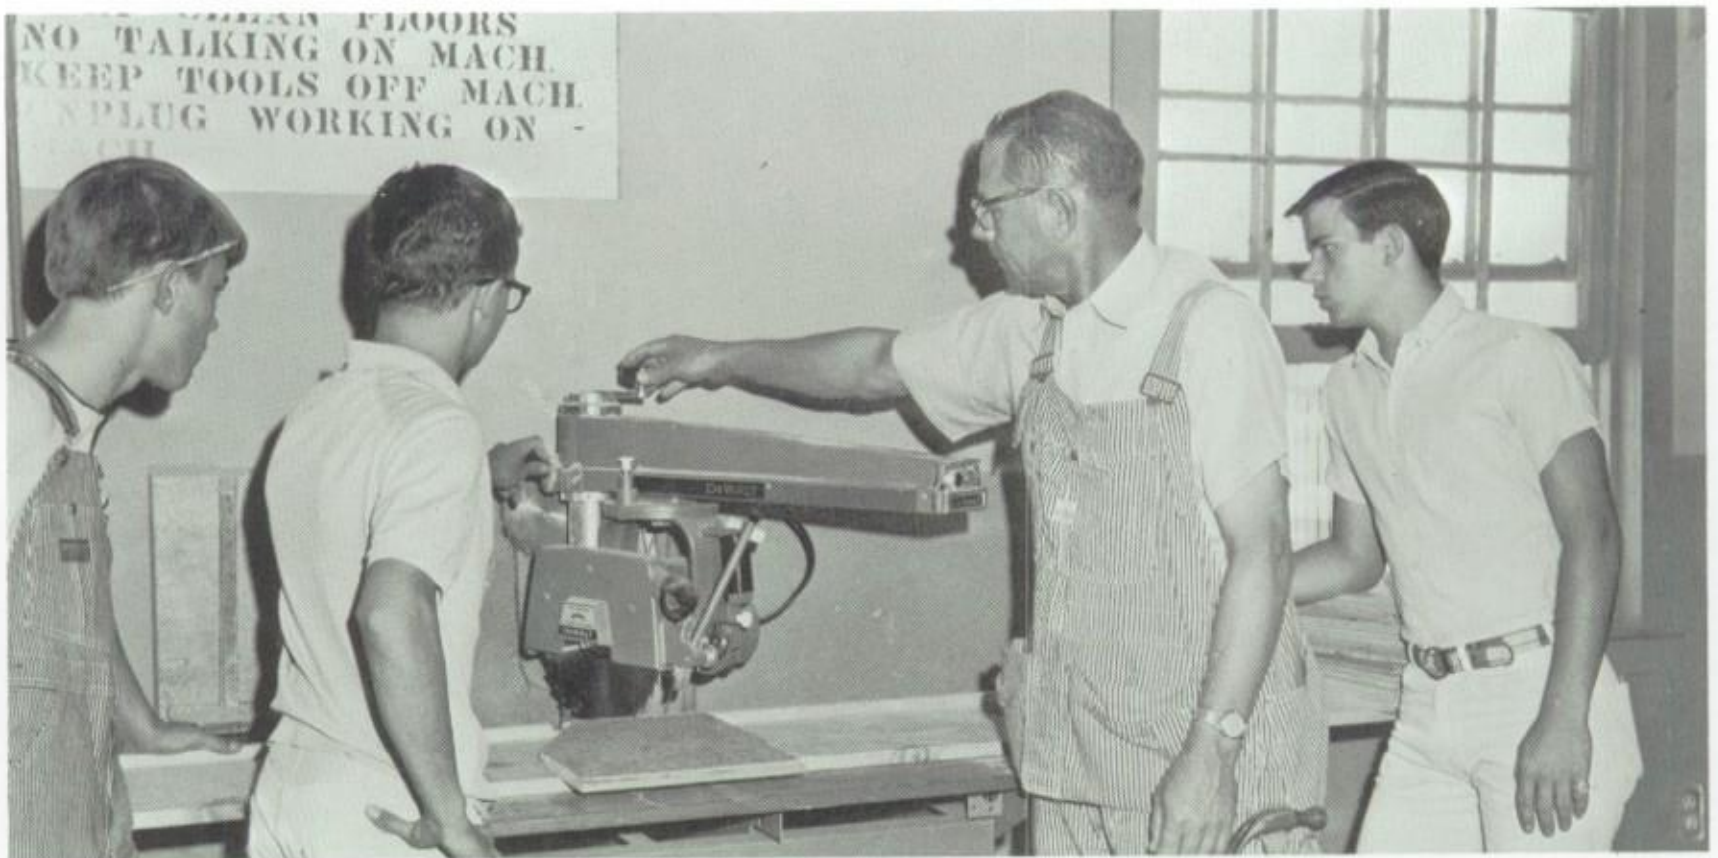

Home Economics teaches students the art of sewing, cooking, and getting along with others.

"This is the proper way to hold a pen," explains Peggy Tilley, graduate of Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts.

Pat Hurst, graduate of Oklahoma University, demonstrates the proper way to clean a stove.

John Ragland, M. S. graduate of Southeastern College, instructs his students on the use of the new table saw.

Hulen Howe, graduate of Central State, shows the plans for the student house.

Western Heights students have an opportunity to train with the tools of their trade.

Vocational educational classes instruct the students in proper employee attitudes and techniques of selling. These courses demand imagination in creating, building, and repairing.

Students take notes as Charles Sheid, graduate of Southwestern State College, instructs them on techniques of first aid.

"There is always room for more beauty . . . room for another rose." Mrs. Donna Smith, graduate of Oklahoma State University, instructs her cosmetology students on the art of backcombing.

"To dig and delve in nice clean dirt can do a mortal little hurt." Mr. Clarence Sterling shows students how to do a job right.

Getting ready for the first lunch session are: Juanita Latimer, Katherine Colley, Ann Henry, Betty Brandt, Ruth Newhouse, Irene Records, Jeanne Riddle, and Rose McGinley.

Meet the people who keep our building warm in the winter and who keep it in A-1 condition. We can't forget those who satisfy the hunger pains that begin around 11:00.

Jane Renshaw, Lunchroom Coordinator

Providing transportation for students in our widely scattered district are: Leonard Troutman, John Neil, Carrol Morris, David Hamon, Steve Mann, John Boren, Clifton Pieffer, Keith Stone, Clem Woods, J. W. Fish, Bill Dewell, Elbert Riddle, and Clair Young.

SENIORS

“Where to From Here?”

A question often asked, but not easily answered is, "Where do we go from here?" As this year draws to an end, we as seniors will leave the hallways of Western Heights. Each of us will go our way . . . to college, to business school, to work. No matter how far we may travel from our alma mater, the memories of high school will be remembered. Hard work and spirit were crowded into our high school years. As we go forth, the Class of '65 will face the future with courage, spirit, and humility.
